

Lab participates in two-day industry symposium

by Rich Garcia, Directed Energy Directorate

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. – Lieutenant General Eugene L. Tattini gives a keynote address to more than 300 government and industry representatives. The general, who commands the Space and Missile Systems Center at Los Angeles AFB, Calif., was one of nearly two dozen presenters at a "Briefing for Industry." This two-day symposium was held here in August to outline business opportunities from organizations within the Department of Defense and Department of Energy. The Professional Aerospace Contractors Association, with support from Air Force Research Laboratory, sponsored the event. Major General Richard Paul was also a speaker.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. – Dr. Earl Good, Director of the Directed Energy Directorate makes a presentation to more than 300 government and industry representatives. Good was one of nearly two dozen presenters at the "Briefing for Industry." Representatives from eight of the nine Air Force Research Laboratory directorates were in attendance.
